For Oz Blackstone, the days of getting into trouble for a living, otherwise known as being a private enquiry agent, could soon be behind him. An undercover stint posing as a TV wrestling Master of Ceremonies has convinced him that he might just have a bit of a hidden theatrical talent. So when Oz gets the chance of a bit-part in a movie, it seems like an offer he can't refuse - even though his own life is fast developing a dramatic storyline of its own, with a frightening series of accidents befalling people close to him. And when the female lead is kidnapped from the set in a bizarre echo of the movie's rollercoaster plot, fiction and reality come together in a terrifying climax. But has Oz got what it takes to save the day?

Helda the Blue Witch of Oz Jul 30 2022 Peyton is thirteen years old. She thinks of herself as being an adult and has given up believing in fairytales like the Wizard of Oz. Peyton and her two cousins have been invited to visit their great Aunt and Uncle, Ida and Howard Diggs. The visit goes well. A neighbor invites Peyton to attend a street party. Peyton goes to the party and really enjoys herself. Meanwhile Ida, Howard, Sydney and Colton stay home and play board games. After the party Peyton returns home. No one is there. She searches the house. Not only are the others missing but their three magical flying machines are also missing. If Peyton didn't know better she would think that Helda the Witch had kidnapped them again! Of course that was nonsense. She notices the hall by the master bedroom is dusty, so she get out a dust mop and starts dusting. As Peyton dust the entrance to the bedroom, she thinks she sees some dust bunnies shirk and slide under the bed. As Peyton dust by the dresser, she looks in the mirror and see the dust bunnies once more. When she turns around they are gone. Peyton goes over to the bed and calls for the dust bunnies to come out. They come out. Peyton tells them about the disappearance of everyone and everything. They want to help. She asks the bunnies how they became alive. They tell her about a magic spot on the floor. Peyton uses the spot to bring the dust mop to life, almost. While Peyton works on making the dust mop fly so she can go to the Land of Oz and save the others, she remembers she is now an adult and doesn't believe anything that is happening. Peyton thinks she is hallucinating because of something she drunk at the party. So she just ignores everything and goes to bed. Will Peyton be able to believe in fairytales again? If so will she be able to rescue everyone?

Helda the Red Witch of Oz Aug 31 2022 The author has enjoyed reading over one hundred stories about the Land of Oz. He has written 22 stories about the Land of Oz and would like to share these stories with others who like the Land of Oz. Howard and Ida have their great-great-nephew and nieces visiting. They are nephew Colton who is age 6 and likes to be called Cdog. And nieces Sydney age eight and Peyton age eleven. The nephew and nieces spent the afternoon playing boards games. Ida cooked one of her prize winning prairie style mince meat pies for dessert and took it upstairs to show to

Howard. It was to be a surprise for Cdog, Sydney and Peyton. Cdog became hungry around dinner time. Sydney, Peyton and Cdog went looking for their aunt and uncle to see about eating dinner. They couldn't find them anywhere. The children end up in their aunt and uncle's bedroom. Peyton sent Sydney and Cdog down to the kitchen to find something to eat. While Peyton sat on the bed wondering what to do, she noticed a broom on the wall under a shelf with a cigar box size object on it. There was a sign under the box that said to use it in case of a magical emergency. Peyton takes down the box and a message appears on it. It asks what is the emergency? Peyton replies that here aunt and uncle have disappeared. The box starts talking. It scares Peyton. The box says its name is Boxer and calls for the help of Snowball, Victor, and Fastsweeper. The broken vacuum cleaner and the broom come over to the bed. Snowball, who is a rabbit hand puppet asks for help to get to the bed. Sydney walks into the bedroom and sees and hears Boxer, Fastsweeper, Victor, and Snowball talking. She finds it hard to believe. Boxer tells Sydney and Peyton how to put together the flying vacuum cleaner. However, Boxer doesn't know if the children can do the rescue mission. Just then Cdog comes in and sees the vacuum and broom by the bed. He thinks they are trying to play with them without him. They tell him that isn't so. Cdog then insists on getting Recharger a carpet sweeper and it charger. When Cdog finds out the vacuum and broom can fly he insists that the carpet sweeper can also fly. Boxer finally tell the children to go get some sleep and come back at dusk and be prepared to go to the Land of Oz to rescue their aunt and uncle. Will Boxer be able to make the carpet sweeper fly? Can the children make it to the Land of Oz and find their aunt and uncle? Will the children be held prisoners by the nannies? Will they get trapped in a haunted cabin? Will be end up in a dungeon? Read the story to find out.

The Mason Jar Jun 24 2019

What if your old college roommate called, raving about a book someone sent her, calling it the most beautiful book she's ever read? "But," she said, "it's about you." The author is your college ex. In The Mason Jar, Clayton Fincannon is a Tennessee farm boy raised at the feet of his grandfather. He and his grandfather leave letters for each other in a Mason jar on his grandfather's desk; letters of counsel and affirmation. When Clayton attends college in Southern California, he meets and falls in love with a dark haired debutante from Colorado. However, when an unmentioned past resurrects in her life and she leaves, Clayton is left with unanswered questions. Clayton goes on to serve as a missionary in Africa, while he and his grandfather continue their tradition of writing letters. When Clayton returns home five years later to bury his grandfather, he searches for answers pertaining to the loss of the young woman he once loved. Little does Clayton know, the answers await him in the broken Mason jar. A story about a girl who vanished, a former love who wrote a book about her and a reunion they never imagined. Written for the bruised and broken, The Mason Jar is an inspirational romance that brings hope to people who have experienced disappointment in life due to separation from loved ones. With a redemptive ending that encourages us to love again, and written in the fresh, romantic tones of Nicholas Sparks, The Mason Jar interweaves the imagery of Thoreau with the adventures and climatic family struggles common to Dances with Wolves, A River Runs Through It and Legends of the Fall. Note: In September 2014, a new version of The Mason Jar (distinguishable by the blue title box on the front cover) was released with a redemptive ending.

The Armoire May 04 2020 As Fig travels in the deepest parts of the Wanderland to face off with the Fly King, Lieutenant Inspector Raeon is on the verge of discovering Aeneid's true murderer. A strange yellow haze and an empty wooden cup reveal a vicious plot to depose of all of the Seekers in the Sourwood. Too close to outing the culprit, Raeon is falsely accused and his life hangs in the balance as he is held to stand trial. There Are No Gods for Arthropods is a satirical dark fantasy and an episodic novella series. Short enough to read in a single sitting, and yet, terrifying enough to keep you awake till midnight. Episode Three is—THE ARMOIRE. The Cultivator & Country Gentleman Jan 12 2021

Helda the Green Witch of Oz Jun 28 2022 Howard Diggs is the great-great-great-nephew of Oscar Diggs. Oscar is better known as the Wizard of Oz. Howard is moping around the house. He misses being able to fly on his flying vacuum cleaner called Victor. Unfortunately Victor can no long fly. This is also true of the Recharger a carpet sweeper and Mopsy a dust mop. All of them needed some old magic in Boxer in order to fly. Unfortunately all of Boxer's old magic is used up! Boxer was a box of magic that was a gift to Howard from his Uncle Oscar. He has helped Howard out of many a tight spot. Since Mopsy, Recharger and Victor could no longer fly Howard hoped that no one would want to steal them any more. Ida, Howard's wife noticed Howard's moping. She suggested that he should make a haunted house for Halloween. Howard makes the haunted house with the aid of Ida and his great nephew and nieces, Colton, Sydney and Peyton. Howard likes the idea and makes and have a great haunted house. A month later the nephew and nieces visit again. Colton suggests his Aunt Ida make a banana squash pie. After some thought, Ida decides she can make the pie. While Ida is shopping for pie materials, Howard, Peyton, Sydney and Colton disappear from the house along with all the non-flying machines. Even Fastsweeper a family size witch's flying broom is missing. What will Ida do? How can she hope to get to the land of Oz without the use of a flying machine? What happened to Howard and the others? Who would want the non-flying machines? How can Ida help the others? Read the book and

Educating the Consumer-citizen Jan 30 2020 In Educating the Consumer-

Citizen: A History of the Marriage of Schools, Advertising, and Media, Joel Spring charts the rise of consumerism as the dominant American ideology of the 21st century. He documents and analyzes how, from the early 19th century through the present, the combined endeavors of schools, advertising, and media have led to the creation of a consumerist ideology and ensured its central place in American life and global culture. Spring first defines consumerist ideology and consumer-citizen and explores their 19th-century origins in schools, children's literature, the commercialization of American cities, advertising, newspapers, and the development of department stores. He then traces the rise of consumerist ideology in the 20th century by looking closely at: the impact of the home economics profession on the education of women as consumers and the development of an American cuisine based on packaged and processed foods; the influence of advertising images of sports heroes, cowboys, and the clean-shaven businessman in shaping male identity; the outcomes of the growth of the high school as a mass institution on the development of teenage consumer markets; the consequences of commercial radio and television joining with the schools to educate a consumer-oriented population so that, by the 1950s, consumerist images were tied to the Cold War and presented as the "American way of life" in both media and schools; the effects of the civil rights movement on integrating previously excluded groups into the consumer society; the changes the women's movement demanded in textbooks, school curricula, media, and advertising that led to a new image of women in the consumer market; and the ascent of fast food education. Spring carries the story into the 21st century by examining the evolving marriage of schools, advertising, and media and its ongoing role in educating the consumer-citizen and creating an integrated consumer market. This book will be of wide interest to scholars, professionals, and students across foundations of education, history and sociology of education, educational policy, mass communications, American history, and cultural studies. It is highly appropriate as a text for courses in these areas. the "thrilling conclusion"* to the dystopian trilogy that began with Gilded Cage and Tarnished City, the people of Britain rise up against their magically gifted masters. They must break the system—or be broken. MAGIC RUINS. WE RISE. The rules are simple, the system cruel: the lower classes must give ten years in service to Britain's powerfully gifted rulers. With one uprising crushed by the glittering elite, commoners and aristocrats alike now take sides for a final confrontation. At the center of it all are two ordinary siblings: Abi Hadley and her brother, Luke. Each has reason to hate the ruling Jardine family. Abi, who was once their servant, now seeks revenge for a terrible wrong. Luke was imprisoned on their whim—but his only hope may be an alliance with the youngest and most powerful of the clan, the cold and inscrutable Silyen Jardine. Risking everything to end a bright and shining tyranny, Abi, Luke, and Silyen find themselves bound by a single destiny. Their actions will change their fates—and change the world. But at a cost almost too terrible to contemplate. What price would you pay for freedom? *Library Journal (starred review, Pick of the Month) Look for all three books in the mesmerizing Dark Gifts trilogy: GILDED CAGE • TARNISHED CITY • BRIGHT

RUIN Praise for Bright Ruin “Fast-paced, entertaining, and a satisfying end to an epic story [with] dramatic class division based not on mere financial wealth but on a family’s magic.”—Booklist “A triumphant conclusion to this outstanding fantasy series . . . It will keep you up at night until you finish it, and you’ll take a huge breath as you can’t believe the story is over. If you haven’t read the first two installments, please do so, and then jump into the finale. You’ll fly through them all as you see Britain as you’ve never imagined—and you’ll hope against hope for the freedom that may never come.”—Bookreporter

“Rebellion comes to a deadly boil in the final chapter of James’s Dark Gifts alternate history fantasy trilogy (after Tarnished City). . . . [An] intricate tale of ruthless scheming and bloody betrayals backlit by an unquenchable glimmer of hope.”—Publishers Weekly

Mar 26 2022 In the old days, when the world was young, there were no automobiles nor flying-machines to make one wonder; nor were there railway trains, nor telephones, nor mechanical inventions of any sort to keep people keyed up to a high pitch of excitement. Men and women lived simply and quietly. They were Nature's children, and breathed fresh air into their lungs instead of smoke and coal gas; and tramped through green meadows and deep forests instead of riding in street cars; and went to bed when it grew dark and rose with the sun - which is vastly different from the present custom. Having no books to read they told their adventures to one another and to their little ones; and the stories were handed down from generation to generation and reverently believed.

Dreaming with God Dec 23 2021 In 1992 Alexandra De Avalon's son David was killed in an automobile accident.

Soon after, she felt his presence, and their spiritual journey began. David has communicated to his mother what happened after his physical death. He validates that he is still alive through miracles that have never stopped. Alexandra shares in a very candid way her spiritual journey and what she does to help heal her grief. When David made his transition, Alexandra De Avalon had a turning point in her life. She became a healer. This insightful book is about hope, miracles, and encouraging a spiritual healing process with grief. "Breaking through the myth of death to the meaningfulness of the continued spiritual connection with those we love, Alexandra's exquisitely written journey invites us into a universal spirituality from Ancient Mayan ritual to love's transformative power. Her words awaken the beauty of prayer, hope, family, faith, and everyday miracles as they affirm the quality of life that unfolds as we listen to the wisdom of our hearts. If you know someone who has lost a loved one, give the gift of hope and share this book with them." — Rev. David McArthur, co-author of the bestselling book, The Intelligent Heart.
